Fulbright Endorses Action On Philippine Payment

Ark. Senator Would Pay In Lump Sum

Would Eliminate Any Commission To John O'Donnell

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., voiced hope Friday that Congress will vote quick passage of legislation assuring that the Philippine government gets every nickel of the $73 million authorized last year for war damage claims.

Fulbright is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which reported yesterday that Washington lobbyist John A. O'Donnell's plugged last year's measure to passage and distributed over $9,000 in campaign contributions to "sympathetic" Congress members in 1960.

The senator told an interviewer he will ask his committee to approve Tuesday an amendment which would provide for lump sum payment of the $73 million to the Philippine government and thus eliminate any 5 per cent fees for O'Donnell or any other representatives of individual claimants under the 1962 act.

"I am sure members of Congress were not aware of the profits in the bill for Mr. O'Donnell when it was passed last year," Fulbright said. "They voted for the legislation out of the most patriotic of motives—a desire to further rehabilitate and strengthen the economy of a friendly country."

Among O'Donnell's 1960 contributions were $2,000 to Rep. Clement J. Zablocki, D-Wis., and $500 each to Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., and Rep. George P. Miller, D-Calif.

Fulbright said O'Donnell stood to collect at least $150,000 in fees as lawyer for many of the claimants and as much as $300,000 additional if he were compensated for some $6 million in claims filed by Philippine sugar mills he represents in Washington as paid agent for the Philippine Sugar Association.

Cuban Exile Leader Denies JFK Promise

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Dr. Manuel Antonio de Varona, spokesman for the split-up Cuban Revolutionary Council, said Friday "I never knew of a promise by President Kennedy for a second invasion of Cuba."

Ole of Varona's aides added "he should have known if there ever was such a promise."

Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, who quit Thursday as council president, charged then that President Kennedy had backed out on a promise of a second invasion.

Prior to resignation of Miro and eight members over differences with the Kennedy administration, Varona was No. 2 man on the council. Varona has maintained every effort should be made to improve relations between the United States and the anti-Castro exile groups.

Varona made his statement during a brief news conference in which he said the council planned a series of meetings to draw up a statement of the council's intentions and an invitation for all Cuban revolutionary organizations to join it in a united movement against Fidel Castro.

Varona — once Cuban minister of State — said, "I have not and will not designate myself president of the council, and am merely acting now as its secretary and servant."

Yale President Dies Of Cancer

Griswold's Death Ends 13-Year Career At Top

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—Dr. A. Whitney Griswold, 56, president of Yale University for 13 years, died of cancer Friday.

Griswold was operated on two years ago for a malignant growth. He died at his home at 5 p.m. EST, his family at his side. Funeral services are incomplete.

Griswold's appointment as Yale's 16th president in 1950 came as a surprise to the nation's educational community since he was only 43 and relatively unknown outside his educational field.

He was picked as most nearly meeting the requirements of the Yale Corporation, one of whose members had said that the new president "must be a young man—but also mature and full of wisdom."

His immediate predecessor, Charles Seymour, summed up Griswold's career before his inauguration as follows:

"He has achieved eminence as a scholar through his publications on international and political affairs, particularly his history of American relations with the Far East and his appraisals of trends in American democracy."

Griswold took over the presidency of Yale at a particularly difficult time. Relations between students and the city of New Haven were strained but through his efforts, these relationships were smoothed over—until 1959 when 41 Yale students were arrested in connection with two riots involving police.

Griswold immediately placed the entire undergraduate body on probation and attempted to root out the ringleaders.

Nearly all of Griswold's career was linked with Yale—from which he was graduated in 1929. His only departure from the campus came immediately after commencement when he worked as a newspaperman, and dabbled for a few months in the stock market.

Griswold said he took the job with a Wall Street brokerage firm after "having no money and wanting to get married." After the crash of 1929 he returned to Yale for his doctorate.

In 1930, Griswold married Mary M. Brooks of Scranton, Pa. They had four children.

Strong Woman Floors Man, Steals His $30

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Washington police are searching for a 5-foot brunette with a vigorous handshake.

Johnny Johnson, 58, said the woman entered his dry cleaning store and asked if he had any clothes to sell. When he said no, the woman extended her hand and said, "God bless you."

Suddenly, Johnson was yanked over the woman's shoulder and sent crashing into dry cleaning machinery. The woman plucked $30 from his pocket and walked out.

Franco Cabinet Refuses To Spare Spanish Red

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Gen. Francisco Franco's Cabinet Friday night refused to commute the death sentence of Spanish Communist leader Julian Grimau Garcia. A government spokesman dismissed an appeal for clemency sent personally to Franco by Soviet Premier Khrushchev as "clearly an instrument of propaganda."

The Cabinet found no cause to commute the death sentence imposed Thursday on Grimau, 52, Information Minister Manuel Fraga Irigarne told newsmen.

Grimau was convicted, among other things, of heading a drumhead court that sent nationalists to their deaths during the Spanish Civil War of 1936-39.

There was still a slim chance that Franco might decide to spare Grimau's life.

Fraga said that Khrushchev's telegram, marking the first direct message to Franco from a Soviet leader, would be answered by the Spanish ruler "in correct fashion."

The Soviet news agency Tass, in an announcement from Moscow, said Khrushchev told Franco all mankind would be grateful if Grimau's life was spared.

There was no indication when the sentence will be carried out, if Grimau is to be executed.

Before the Cabinet session, it was generally predicted in Madrid that Franco would commute the sentence to a long prison term, possibly 30 years.

Some Spaniards said Khrushchev's message and the Communist protests might harm Grimau's case rather than help it.

Various Spanish officials expressed irritation at what they called an organized Communist campaign on Grimau's behalf, even before he went on trial.

Navy Inquiry Moves Behind Closed Doors

Secret Session Hears Testimony Called Classified

By JAMES CALOGERO
PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP)—A Navy court of inquiry met behind guarded doors Friday to hear classified testimony after open disclosures that the submarine Thresher was plagued by mechanical problems up to the eve of her last trip.

The court heard the following witnesses in Friday's session: William H. Barne III, U.S. engineering experimental station at Annapolis; Edwin G. Savasten of the Navy's David Taylor model basin in Washington; Daniel P. Trefethen, a Portsmouth naval shipyard design engineer; and Navy Capt. Samuel P. Heller Jr., designed superintendent at Portsmouth.

Three other witnesses were heard behind closed doors Thursday night. They were: Chief Petty Officer Frank DeStefano, 29, of Hartford, Conn.; Lt. R. Bruce Rule of the staff of the commander of the anti-submarine defense force at Norfolk, Va.; and Capt. Patrick Leahy of the Navy's Bureau of Ships in Washington.

The court said the witnesses heard in secret session gave information of a classified nature.

DeStefano, one of two Thresher crewmen who did not sail on the final trip, said in open court Thursday that the crew was so busy correcting equipment "there wasn't much time for casualty and other drills."

He said many malfunctions had been corrected and the Thresher was "in excellent condition" when she sailed April 9 for a deep sea test dive.

She sank with the loss of 129 lives the following day in 8,400 feet of water 220 miles off Boston.

DeStefano was transferred from the Thresher to another assignment the day before she left.

Lt. Raymond A. McCoole, 33, of Dover, N.H., who was on a two-day leave when the submarine sank, said more than a dozen malfunctions had to be corrected in the final two weeks.

He said the Thresher experienced continuing trouble maintaining air pressure, operating the starboard main seawater inlet valve, adjusting the starboard torpedo tube shutters, and correcting the rudder and planes which controlled the sub's diving angle.

McCoole, however, said he felt the Thresher was "completely seaworthy" and his crew "the best in the U.S. Navy."

Laos Premier Orders Kin To Halt Attack

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI)—Premier Souvanna Phouma Friday bluntly ordered his pro-Communist half-brother, Prince Souphanouvong, to halt an offensive by his leftist troops on the Plain of Jars. He also appealed directly to Britain and the Soviet Union to intervene to stop the bitter fighting in Laos.

Reports reaching Vientiane said the troops of Souphanouvong's pro-Communist Pathet Lao were shelling the vital airfield of Phong Savan in an all-out bid to drive beleaguered, outnumbered neutralist forces of Gen. Kong Le out of their last big stronghold on the plain.

Reliable sources said earlier that the Red troops had driven the neutralists from the strategic town of Phong Savan itself.

The neutralist commander and his forces were driven to the edge of Phong Savan's airfield, where they were reported holding out against overwhelming odds in the face of the Red artillery bombardment.

The artillery barrage, a possible prelude to an all-out attack on Kong Le's headquarters, closed the Phong Savan airfield. The nearest neutralist-held airport is Muong Phan, about 100 miles away.

(In Washington, the State Department said it was possible that the neutralists had been driven out of the Phong Savan airfield, the only one in the region, and that Kong Le's forces "have withdrawn to the western edge of the Plain of Jars.")

Heated Talk About Cat

DACCA, East Pakistan (AP)—A cat was the chief topic of angry discussion in the Pakistani National Assembly yesterday.

The cat was presented to the children of John Kenneth Galbraith, U.S. ambassador to India, when he visited the city of Ahmedabad, India, last year. The children named the cat for the city.

Pakistani papers called this week for protest demonstrations at reports the children had shortened the name to Ahmed, one of the many names of the Prophet Mohammed.

Galbraith's embassy in New Delhi denied the report the cat's name had been shortened to Ahmed. A spokesman said the children had changed the name to Gujarat—the state in which Ahmedabad is located.

Boeing-Wichita Offer Rejected

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Boeing-Wichita members of the International Association of Machinists overwhelmingly rejected the company's latest contract offer.

The vote was 3,927 against the proposal and 298 for it.

This apparently means union-wide rejection of the proposal. The vote here, added to those reported earlier from other Boeing installations, showed 9,590 against the proposal and 8,713 for.

In Washington, Machinist union headquarters said there was no talk of a strike for the time being.

P. L. Siemiller, vice president of the union and chairman of its aerospace conference, said in a statement, "our members have acted within their rights as citizens of a free nation and members of a democratic union."

Siemiller added, "The negotiations committee is seeking a new meeting with Boeing management at the earliest possible date."

'An Old Soldier' Honored

General of the Army Douglas MacArthur, chats with New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller prior to luncheon in MacArthur's honor at New York's Waldorf Astoria Hotel yesterday. Rockefeller introduced the 83-year-old MacArthur to the luncheon guests as "an old soldier who will never fade away in the esteem of the American people." Yesterday was the 12th anniversary of MacArthur's famed "old soldiers never die" address to a joint session of Congress. (See story at bottom of page.) (AP Photofax)

Nuclear Force To Be Pushed By De Gaulle

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle expressed determination Friday night to forge ahead with his own nuclear strike force. He also kept the door tightly closed against British entry into the European Common Market.

Survival of France in the nuclear age requires a purely French national atomic force, the 72-year-old De Gaulle told a nationwide radio-television audience. He spoke disdainfully of efforts to dissuade him, calling them "voices of immobilism and demagoguery."

While promising that France would cooperate with its allies in the Atlantic defense system, De Gaulle gave no hint that he would extend this cooperation to the multinational nuclear forces backed by the United States and most of the other NATO allies.

A French nuclear strike force is scheduled to be operational in late fall.

De Gaulle spoke publicly for the first time since the historic Jan. 14 news conference at which he rejected a U.S. offer of Polaris missiles to be employed in an Allied nuclear force.

De Gaulle said that in the future France cannot be sure of the intentions of its allies, much less of its enemies.

"Taking into account this immense and inevitable uncertainty," he said, "France must possess the wherewithal to reach any state which was its aggressor, that is the wherewithal to dissuade it from aggression, and according to the circumstances, the wherewithal to contribute to the defense of its allies."

"Who knows?" he asked. "This may include America."

Kennedy Rules Out Federal Fund Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy Friday ruled out a civil rights commission proposal that he consider cutting off federal funds to Mississippi. But he said the administration was studying "every possible approach" to protect Negro rights in the state.

The President told the American Society of Newspaper Editors he did not have power to cancel aid to Mississippi — and it probably would be unwise to have such power.

Nevertheless, he sent a letter to Chairman John A. Hannah of the Civil Rights Commission promising to give the proposal prompt and careful review but listing its difficulties.

Car Output Up

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan's automobile industry turned out a record production of 1,035,579 cars in 1962, the Automobile Industry Association reported Friday. The output was 18.1 per cent higher than in 1961.

New Lava Flows

CATANIA, Sicily (UPI)—Observers reported 12 new lava flows from Mount Etna Friday but another lava stream that had threatened to set fire to a pine wood stopped.

Keating Says Situation Is Serious

CHICAGO (UPI)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating said Friday the United States still faces "a very serious situation" in Cuba and the administration is doing "nothing more than talk."

The New York Republican said he assumes, without "concrete evidence," that the Russians have removed missiles and bombers from Cuba but he charged the island nation "has been literally transformed into a school for subversives."

"This should not be a partisan issue," he said. "This is not a Democratic or Republican problem—mistakes have been made by both parties."

Keating discussed the administration's Cuban policy at a news conference and in an address at the convention of the Central Supply Association.

He said the United States acted to block the Soviets in Cuba "in one respect, and in one respect only—the introduction of long-range missiles and bombers."

"In every other respect since the disastrous Bay of Pigs fiasco, we have done nothing more than talk," he said. "Sometimes we have even tried to pretend there was no threat at all."

Keating said the Russians "get a lot of credit for withdrawing when they suddenly discovered that the gun they had loaded themselves was pointed in their own direction." But he said "the Soviet Union still retains the initiative in Cuba."

The senator, who has made dramatic charges of Russian building in Cuba based on his own information sources, was asked at the news conference if he was satisfied that all the Soviet missiles had been removed from Cuba. "I'm not satisfied either way," he said.

Unfading Gen. MacArthur Speaks On Anniversary

By H. D. QUIGG
NEW YORK (UPI)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who told Congress that old soldiers fade away and for 12 years has done anything but that, said Friday that the proper study of history should build the "fires of patriotism and sacrifice" in students that will preserve America as a free nation.

MacArthur spoke on the 12th anniversary of his "old soldier" address to Congress. He was guest of honor at a luncheon at which a sponsoring committee headed by President Kennedy announced the establishment of a MacArthur chair of history at Columbia University.

"I thank you from the bottom of an old soldier's heart," MacArthur said.

"If there is one thing I have learned during my long years of experience it is that if we would correctly solve the problems of the present and chart a safe course into the future we must study and weigh and understand the manifold lessons of which history is the great — indeed, the only — competent teacher."

Sen. Goldwater Says Liberals 'Reactionary'

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Friday the "true reactionaries" of 1963 are not conservatives but the liberals who want to return to the New Deal era of the 1930s.

Goldwater said in remarks prepared for the Associated Students at the University of California that the term "conservative" should be defined more clearly.

"The mere fact that conservatives believe in enduring principles and lasting values" doesn't mean they want to return to ancient times, the senator said. "This is perhaps the most persistent and erroneous charge brought against conservatism."

Goldwater, an Air Force reserve jet pilot who drives the latest sports cars, said if he were the "kind of mossback conservative which critics like to make out, why wouldn't I travel around in a horse and buggy or a Stutz Bearcat?"

"The truth is that no conservative worth his salt is against progress of any kind. He is far more progressive today than those who want change for the mere sake of change; who want to change tested and time-proven fundamentals to meet a temporarily disagreeable situation."

"The fact that the new frontier is constantly harping on the idea that we live in a changing world doesn't make the idea of change their exclusive property," Goldwater said.

The best ideas that liberals have to offer, he said, are the "same tired, old programs we got from the New Deal and Fair Deal."

"If this is what the American liberal of today calls progress," he added, "then I suggest the American people will have to look elsewhere for the policies and the programs that will get this country back on its feet."

President To Visit Camp David Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy will spend part of the weekend at Camp David, presidential hideaway near Thurmont, Maryland, the White House announced Friday.

Asst. Press Secretary Andrew T. Hatcher said Kennedy will fly to Camp David by helicopter immediately after he returns from Boston late Saturday afternoon.

Kennedy is going to Boston Saturday for a speech in connection with the observance of the 100th anniversary of Boston College.

Still Fears May Spur Price Spiral

"Psychological Effect" Worries Chief Executive

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy said Friday the steel industry showed restraint in its recent price increases, but he voiced fears that the "psychological effect" may spur a new price-wage spiral.

The President appealed to the steelworkers union and industrial users of steel — especially automakers — to display the same kind of restraint shown by the steelmakers.

"The steel industry, it seems to me, has acted with some restraint in this case, which I think is very useful," the Chief Executive told the American Society of Newspaper Editors. "I am hopeful that other companies, particularly in the auto industry, will act with similar restraint."

Disregards Actual Effect

Answering questions of society members, the President said the actual effect of the selective steel price increases did not concern him. They would only restore the steelmakers' loss of one per cent in prices since 1959.

"What I am concerned about is not the actual effect, although that is important, but that the psychological effect may cause a more general rise in prices which may, therefore be reflected in additional wage demands," he said.

Kennedy appealed to other companies to absorb the added cost of steel rather than to pass it on to consumers. He singled out the automobile producers, "who are making very high profits."

He appealed, too, to the steel union to recognize the need for "wage stability" and to "guide its conduct in accordance with its long-range interest, which is the national interest."

The Chief Executive strongly defended his tax cut proposals and said "I don't see anything in the economy that would make the tax bill unnecessary."

He criticized Republican talk of cutting as much as $15 billion from his proposed budget. "I can think of nothing more ruinous to the security of this country and our economy," he said.

Many of the advocates of budget cuts, the President said, are the same ones who formulated the Eisenhower administration policies that led to two recessions, a $12.5 billion deficit in 1958, and a $12 billion outflow of gold and dollars.

"We hope to do better," he said.

Questions After Talk

Kennedy, in his prepared speech, said that deep cuts in his budget would cripple defense and space programs, cost the economy one million jobs and "turn the clock back in every American community."

He gave his views on the steel situation during a question-and-answer period following the speech.

The President was asked that inasmuch as he approved selective increases by the steel industry, did he also endorse possible selective wage increases for steel workers?

"The steel industry has acted with some restraint in this case which I think is very useful," Kennedy replied. "And I would hope that the automobile companies would act with similar restraint."

He applied the same rule of restraint to the steel union leaders. He hoped the union members would keep the public interest clearly in mind as they approached the wage problem, Kennedy said.

The President told another questioner he thought inflationary pressures over the past five years had been relatively mild and price stability had not suffered greatly.

He felt the primary problem probably was deflation, rather than inflation.

Prosecutors Defer Argument On Boone Move

BALTIMORE (AP) — Federal prosecutors called off arguments Friday on motions to dismiss mail fraud charges against A. Gordon Boone, Democratic speaker of the Maryland House of Delegates.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Stephen H. Sachs had the arguments postponed until Monday on the plea more time was needed to prepare answers to questions posed by Boone.

Boone asked on April 1 not only that the entire indictment against him be dismissed, but that he be granted a trial separate from five other defendants and for inspection of certain government information.

The indictments were based on operation of Security Financial Insurance Corporation (SFIC), of which Boone was an incorporator. It had been the only private insurer of accounts in Maryland savings and loan associations and has gone out of business.

When the indictments were returned Feb. 19, while the Maryland legislature was in session, Boone voluntarily removed himself as speaker temporarily. He continued to sit in the house as a delegate from Baltimore County.

Others named in the indictment are J. Thomas Ellicott, former law partner of Boone, Charles F. Culver, former Baltimore County delegate, C. Oran Mensik, Chicago financier, Henry McGurran, Chicago lawyer, and D. Spencer Grow, operator of savings and loan firms in Utah and Idaho.

Ellicott, former head of the young Maryland Democrats, was convicted Wednesday of scheming to defraud depositors in two associations. Sentence was held off pending decision on a motion for a new trial.

The trial on the SFIC charges have been scheduled tentatively for June 3.

Old Janitor, Young Wife Both Critically Wounded

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — An elderly janitor and his 18-year-old wife, both wounded in a shooting at their home, lay in critical condition Friday in a Hagerstown hospital.

The man, 75-year-old William McNary Thomas, was under police guard at Washington County Hospital and police said his condition would have to improve before they could question him further.

Dead from a bullet wound in the head was Barbara Thomas 4-year-old daughter, Robin Wynn Landaker. Thomas also was shot in the head. The hospital said his wife had a bullet in her spinal column.

All three were shot Thursday night. When police arrived, they found the 4-year old in the bathroom and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas in an adjoining bedroom, where a .32 caliber revolver was on the bed.

Police Sgt. E. W. Kuhlman said Friday officers had questioned Thomas at the hospital but not extensively. Thomas was reported unconscious Friday.

"He was sort of in a dazed condition," Sgt. Kuhlman said, "and we couldn't get much of a coherent story from him."

Thomas' overall-clad figure was a familiar one in downtown Hagerstown, where he was janitor and furnace-stoker for several office buildings, including the elections board building.

George Chandler's Wife Shoots Self To Death

STUDIO CITY, Calif. (AP) — Catherine Chandler, 45, wife of the Screen Actors Guild president George Chandler, shot herself to death Thursday night, police said. Officers said Mrs. Chandler shot herself in the head with a 22-caliber pistol.

The couple's son, Ward, 24, found the body in their home. Chandler was away at a baseball game.

Mrs. Chandler left no notes, police said. Her son said she had been despondent over ill health.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Six months ago Timmy gave me an engagement ring. I was the happiest girl in the world. We went together two years and he was the kindest, most considerate person I had ever known.

We spent our weekends looking for a little home to buy and we even had some furniture picked out. Tim was never out of my thoughts and I'm sure it was the same with him.

Some things are too good to be true and maybe this is the way it was with Timmy and me. He was killed in an accident five weeks ago. When our minister came to the house to tell me the terrible news I became hysterical and they had to call the doctor. I was in bed for three days.

No one else can ever take Timmy's place. I will never fall in love again. Would it be wrong to continue to wear his engagement ring? My mother has been pleading with me to put it away and forget. She says I'm torturing myself.

Is it wrong to cling to this wonderful memory? Please, Ann, help me.—BLACK BLACK BLACK
DEAR FRIEND: Your mother has given you sound advice. I hope you take it. There's a big difference between cherishing a memory and attempting to hang on to something which no longer exists.

Time heals. The pain will gradually diminish and one day it will disappear. If this were not a fact, life would be unbearable.
DEAR ANN LANDERS: As the wife of a personnel manager I've been fairly close to office problems of every type. May I offer some suggestions for women employees?

1. Forget your feminine wiles during office hours. You'll advance faster by concentrating on your specific assignment.

2. Don't try to take over the office. Bossy people are resented. Especially women.

3. Don't tout your own horn. If you are competent and productive everyone will know it.

4. Keep the gossip and small gripes to yourself. Your boss has enough to think about without becoming enmeshed in petty office problems.

Mrs. George Barncord Heads GOP Women's Club

The Women's Republican Club of Cumberland elected officers and passed two resolutions at the meeting Wednesday evening at the Woman's Civic Club house, with Mrs. Holmes Cessna presiding.

Mrs. George Barncord was elected president; Mrs. Paul Rank, and Mrs. H. M. Shank, first and second vice presidents. Serving with them will be Mrs. Kenneth Lowe, treasurer; Mrs. Mark Reagan, assistant and Mrs. William Niland, corresponding secretary. A recording secretary will be appointed to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Rank.

Installation will be conducted by Mrs. Cessna at the May 15 dinner, which will be at the Ali Ghan Shrine Club at 6:30. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Rank, PA 2-4396, by May 13.

The first resolution passed criticized a recent Supreme Court decision and said that the Women's Republican Club of Cumberland, Maryland strenuously objects to "the removal of Christian prayer from the public schools of the land," and to the "unconstitutional method used by the Supreme Court to cause by decree said Christian prayers not to be said in our public schools."

The other resolution said the "Kennedy Administration has, from the beginning bungled the attempt to stop the Communist takeover in Cuba," and criticized the "permissive and cowardly attitude of the Kennedy brothers, which is placing in jeopardy the safety of the entire Western Hemisphere."

It was announced that four of-about the office personnel when you go home at night. And forget what went on at home when you leave for the office in the morning.—BUTTE

DEAR BUTTE: You've packed a lot of common sense into limited space. I hope your letter lands on many an office bulletin board.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Last summer some relatives were in a tight spot. My husband and I loaned them $400. The understanding was they would pay it back when they were able. Nine months have passed and they have not paid back a dime.

Two weeks ago they traded their old car for a new one. We are still driving our 1958 model. When my husband saw this he was furious.
We see these people several times a week. Should we tell them how we feel and probably lose their friendship? We're tired of acting pleasant to their faces and feeling resentment inside. Thank you.—TWO FACED

DEAR TWO: Enough of the fun and games. Tell them you want to know when they can begin to repay the loan.
If they make no effort — stop seeing them socially. It's impossible to feel friendly under the conditions you describe, so why pretend?

To learn the knack of feeling comfortable with the opposite sex, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Date Bait," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"Busiest" Man Back As Emcee

"The busiest man in television," is what they called Robert Q. Lewis three years ago.

Then abruptly in 1961 he vanished, not to be seen again on the networks until last fall when he stepped in as guest emcee for "Play Your Hunch." When the headline spot became vacant shortly thereafter Robert Q. permanently took over the daily chores of "Mr. and Mrs. Doe, do you play or pass? You play . . . fine: do you think it is X, Y or Z?"

One of the best performers in the business, was back in business.

"Play Your Hunch" originates in New York so he's set himself up in a small apartment, "but the sun bath really isn't a substitute for a swim and I like exercise."

"Play Your Hunch" is doing

ROBERT Q. LEWIS

much better in his affections than his old home town, Hollywood. Obviously he enjoys the show enormously himself. It's a perfect vehicle for his sometimes zany, always polished humor. He was one of the first entertainers to kid a commercial successfully without getting so carried away he'd put a sponsor out of business.

The only fixed elements in the show are that the opposing panelists are inevitably husbands and wives. Robert Q. ventures that he would like to see this extended. He'd especially like to see an occasional grandchild-grandfather combination.

"I love to work with children. We need good fibbers and children are, because they have the imagination." Then he got serious and added "Imagination is a quality that should be fostered. Don't lose sight of the fact that imagination helped make this country great."

What are his plans for his own life? Well, for the immediate future, if a vacation comes his way, he'll do a turn in summer stock (he majored in drama at the University of Michigan, left after his third year to work as a radio announcer).

TV IN SIGHT "GENERAL HOSPITAL" New ABC-TV Daytime Serial

Yup—another TV medical program. This new daily serial, dramatizing hospital life, stars John Berardino as Dr. Steve Hardy, chief of internal medicine and features Emily McLaughlin as Nurse Jessie Brewer.

Cowboys Studied On All Networks

The shoot-em-up boys are coming in for careful study these days on all three networks.

ABC is presenting a two-part feature, "A Cowboy Legacy," from 2 to 2:30 p. m. tomorrow and on April 28 on "Directions '63." Later tomorrow on CBS from 6 to 6:30 p. m., "The Twentieth Century" will study "The Western Hero."

NBC's David Brinkley previously studied the legend of Wyatt Earp and the Tombstone, Ariz. goings-on of his day.

The ABC two-part treatment is described as "a revealing and nostalgic study of the American cowboy, told in song, story, paintings and sculpture of Western artists Frederick Remington and Charles Russell." As one means of separating fact from fiction, the program will include an interview with 82-year-old Joe Evans, a real-life cowboy who moved west in a covered wagon and grew up in the era of great cattle drives. Since 1941 he has been a preacher.

The CBS study will focus primarily on "the contribution of the Western to motion picture art." Stanley Kramer, producer of "High Noon," is the programs guest. Film excerpts will be shown beginning with "The Great Train Robbery" (1903) and continue through "High Noon," produced by Kramer in 1952.

"Flip" Not Flop

The Mark family named its boy Philip, but "Flip" was as close as he could get when he was a toddler and he's never bothered to go back to the original. He is seen in "Fair Exchange."

Brussels Bureau Planned By NBC

France's Charles de Gaulle may have kept England out of the Common Market, but nothing is keeping NBC away. It's become the first U. S. network to set up a news bureau covering the Common Market.

Appointed to head the new operation, which will be activated July 1 and will be located in Brussels, is "Today" host, John Chancellor.

Chancellor, who asked to be relieved of his "Today" post so he could return to the news operation was seen in March on a special program about the Common Market, or "European Economic Community," as it is officially known.

Ride By Revere Told In Special

"One if by land and two if by sea," is the way Henry Wadsworth Longfellow told the story of Concord and Lexington and the midnight ride of Paul Revere to generations of school children.

Now NBC is telling the story in contemporary fashion in a special documentary "American Landmark: Lexington-Concord," tomorrow from 8:30 to 9 p. m.

Swimming Around The Channels

Harry Ruby, who was once portrayed in films by Red Skelton, portrays himself in an upcoming episode of the CBS "Danny Thomas Show." Incidentally, the noted composer of "Three Little Words" hasn't been slacking off in the music department, he's the composer of the "Real McCoy's" theme.

Toni Gilman, recent "Alumni Fun" panelist has played so many "heavies" in Broadway musicals that she's been nicknamed "Menace de Milo."

Pretty Claudine Longet (Mrs. Andy Williams) went over so well on her first TV appearance (on McHale's Navy) that she's been signed for another guest appearance. "One Enchanted Weekend" in which she'll play the daughter of a French planter.

And speaking of beautiful girls, Polly Childs, who plays Kate

Lodge Ames on CBS's "Secret Storm" was Miss Colorado in the Miss America pageant of 1957.

"Down Under tastes parallels ours," says William Kreitner, director of NBC's Far Eastern Operation, who adds a word of caution. "The words though, often have different meanings." He gives, for instance: "On the nose, may mean a smash success in Omaha . . . but to get your point across in Australia you'd better say 'bonzer.'" "Bonanza," he adds, means "a sort of super-bonzer."

Apt Remark

Parents, says TV writer Bob Mirvish, "spend the first three years of a child's life trying to get him to talk and the next 17 trying to get him to shut up."

New Generation

New show business dynasties are in the making in a tradition brought to full flower by the Barrymores, Drews and Lupinos, it can be surmised with word that the son of Mickey Rooney and Mia Susan Kovacs, three-year-old daughter of Edie Adams and the late Ernie Kovacs, are on the debut list.

According to Edie, Mia was a last-minute entry. "As rehearsal time approached, I needed a child actress who would be on camera while I was singing Brahms 'Lullaby'."

Happiness isn't formed with facial muscles. It is deeper than a smile. Its brightness is merely mirrored in shining eyes.

Happiness is the warm fertile climate with which God has endowed each human soul. It will flourish as long as our hearts and minds are exposed to the radiance of God. And, for those who discover early the spiritual center of happiness, no storm of life can ever penetrate so deeply as to chill the joy of the soul. Are you less conscious of that inner happiness than once? Perhaps you're living in the shadows . . . groping in dark forests . . . only a glimmer of God's truth filtering through.

Bring your soul out into the sunlight. Seek joy where it is found. The Church points the Way.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL • ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

More Threshers On The Way

Work is continuing on plans for 22 more submarines of the Thresher class. Modifications in design, if any, must await findings of the court of inquiry in the Thresher disaster. So far there has been only conjecture as to what happened.

Locked with the 129 men who perished in its crushed shell is the secret of the disaster that came so swiftly and silently.

For bereaved families some slight consolation may be derived from the knowledge that the end was mercifully quick. There also is the realization that these 129 men were battle casualties in the uneasy cold war between the free world and the slave.

The Thresher will be replaced by 22 other vessels of her type. The sons and brothers, husbands and fathers whose names are now added to Freedom's honor roll are irreplaceable. They were part of their ship, a part of it, and not unaware of the risk.

Fortunately for the cause of freedom, there have always been men willing to pay such a price for its defense. America is stronger for the risks these pioneers of atomic submarining have taken. The brave volunteers aboard the Thresher loved life as much as any man—but they demanded it on the terms of free men.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Of Mole Runs

Sure as shooting, the Kennedy Administration has hopes that some sort of Grand Design for a real peace with Khrushchev can be made a permanent reality. The presumptive gamble is that the Kremlin will be sufficiently accommodating to call off the dogs of subversion all over the world, in Laos, in Guatemala, in Venezuela, in Berlin, and everywhere else, save in spheres touching on Red China over which the Soviets have no control.

Unlike the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, who in the last days of World War II, outlined his hopes for a Grand Design of accommodation with Stalin to Forrest Davis for publication in the Saturday Evening Post, the Kennedys are close-mouthed about their projected blueprint. But one can follow the thinking of the Administration as one traces the movements of a mole, by noting the upheavals of the terrain. One does not have to see the animal to know where he has been.

On one day, as the mole burrows his way along, the State Department lectures U.S. longshoremen for their refusal to load ships in American ports with cargo destined to go to Cuba or to Iron Curtain countries in Europe. On another day Cuban exiles are warned against hit-and-run raids on Castro's shipping. These things are followed up by a combination of blows delivered at the now resigned Cuban exile leader, Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, that recalls the most accomplished ring patterns of old Sugar Ray Robinson when he was at the top of his pugilistic career.

A State Department understrapper, Robert Hurwitch, is so displeased with Dr. Miro for expressing feelings of betrayal that he threatens the Cuban exile, no citizen of the United States, with deportation "as a traitor" if he fails to keep a tight button on his mouth. Then the State Department, enraged that Dr. Miro has indicated the existence of a 22-page document outlining the substance of his talks with the Administration over the course of two years following after the Bay of Pigs fiasco, leaks a portion of the document in order to refute the reputed burden of the whole.

Naturally, the State Department repudiates Hurwitch's angry threats—but Dr. Miro, reading some signs on the wall, takes the precaution to obtain a visa from Gonzalo Fiasco, the Secretary-General of the Organization of American States, which will enable him to seek shelter in Costa Rica. By the time this column is in print Dr. Miro may have departed our shores. In Miami his friends are wondering if he will be the first of a new category of "exiled exiles."

It's all a mess, just as a criss-cross of mole burrowings can make your lawn a mess. But the mess on top of the lawn does not necessarily indicate a lack of direction in the mole's peregrinations. Dr. Miro, being hot blooded, is quite capable of forcing a mole to use alternative tracks. As the son of a famous Cuban general who fought against Spain in patriot Jose Marti's Cuban war of independence back in the Eighteen Nineties, Dr. Miro is touchy about his honor. In pre-Castro days Dr. Miro belonged to a group in Cuba known as "the Insubmersibles"—meaning that they tended to pop up in any regime with hopes for its honorable intentions. When Castro came to power, Dr. Miro popped up as prime minister. He was shortly disillusioned with Castro's pretensions as a savior, and his suspicions resulted in his diplomatic exile to Madrid as ambassador to Spain.

The next place Dr. Miro popped up in was in Miami after a complete break with Castro on the subject of Communism. Castro was the first to call Dr. Miro a traitor. This raises a nice point in diplomatic metaphysics: can you be both a traitor to Castro and to the United States of America without raising the presumption that the U.S. is Castro's friend?

While the to-do about Dr. Miro has been going on, Miami friends of the former exile leader have been sourly charging that New York lawyer James B. Donovan took his teen-age son to Cuba with him for vacation during his last spell of negotiation for the release of prisoners.

"What's going on here, a honeymoon with Fidel?" asked one of the disillusioned Cuban exiles.

Always Born With A Big Mouth

Soviet Events Reminiscent Of Nicholas I Era

VIENNA

By Joseph Alsop

At the close of a European journey in this year of great changes, it is hard to decide which changes are more striking and significant.

On our side of the line that divides the world, the resurgence of nationalism personified by Gen. de Gaulle is menacing the Western Alliance. But on the line's other side, there is not only disunion in the Communist camp; there are also profound changes inside the Soviet Union itself.

Thus far, the mysterious but dramatic events inside the Soviet Union have been thought about and written about largely in terms of their effects on individuals. It has been suggested that Nikita S. Khrushchev's power was declining, which is possible but not certain. Much attention has also been given to the troubles which have overtaken Yevgeni Yevtushenko and the other intellectuals of the avant garde.

But it is clear by now that the power struggle in the Soviet Union and the new repression of the intellectuals and artists are only elements of a much larger and more far-reaching process. The main features of the process are as follows:

First, the restriction of intellectual freedom, already noted. This was already being demanded as long ago as the 22nd Party Congress, most notably in the arrogant speech of the then political officer of the Soviet Armed Forces, Gen. Golikov.

Second, the sharp re-centralization of the whole Soviet economy, under Dimitri F. Ustinov, the man who has been handling the Soviet Armed Forces' weapons procurement ever since 1941. This reversal of Khrushchev decentralization seems to be the culminating episode in a long argument about investment priorities. In view of Ustinov's past associations, it would appear that the Armed Forces have won the argument.

Third, the great increase of prosecutions for economic and other alleged crimes against the state; the more and more overt anti-Semitism; and the apparent growth of police activity and authority.

These three elements, taken together, make a pattern which will seem familiar enough to those who have explored the melancholy and blood-stained history of Russia. The regime of Josef Stalin had the same kind of familiarity. It resembled the terrible transforming reigns of Ivan the Terrible and Peter the Great.

But what is happening now does not seem to be a return to Stalinism, in the true, terror-drenched sense of the word. Between its great, sanguinary upheavals, Russian history has always followed a sort of bellows-rhythm. The air was let in, and the air was expelled again, in almost continuous alternation.

The reign of Nicholas I was the classical airless period. There was no terror, at least of the extreme Ivan-Peter-Stalin sort, and there were no great, transforming changes. There was a rigid and deadening autocracy, hostile to ideas of any kind at all, squarely based on the armed forces and the police.

PURITAN ETHIC — The administration's top economist, Walter F. Heller, who categorized the public desire for budget cuts to offset any tax cut as a "puritan ethic," has coined a phrase that continues to haunt administration backers.

Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., sought to make light of the remark during a recent speech in the midwest before the Economic Club of Detroit.

"Even the Puritans had to borrow money to come to New England," McCarthy lightheartedly told his audience. "And where would we be without Christopher Columbus? He couldn't float a private loan to pay for his trip to America, so where did he turn? To the government."

The remarks were supposed to "warm up" the audience. But they landed with a dull thud. According to people who were there, it was apparent that most of his listeners were Puritans first, economists second.

LANDSLIDE — Senate Democrats are having a lot of fun with Karl Rolvaag's narrow victory in the Minnesota gubernatorial race. Rolvaag finally won by a recount plurality of 91 votes and moved up from his make-shift office in the cellar of the State Capitol Building to the rightful governor's office.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey, from that state, gayly compares Rolvaag's victory with the 87-vote squeak by which Lyndon Johnson won his Senate seat from Texas in 1948.

"We call Karl Landslide Rolvaag," Humphrey tells all and sundry. "That's an honor we once reserved only for Lyndon. I told Rolvaag he ought to be proud of it. He piled up four more votes than the former champion."

President Kennedy Calls Gradual Steel Price Hike 'Salami Tactics'

By Drew Pearson

caused some phoning by Secretary of the Treasury Doug Dillon, a former Wall Street banker who has floated securities for the steel companies; and by Deputy Defense Secretary Roswell Gilpatric, a former Wall Street lawyer for some steel companies.

His tactics, however, were a lot different from JFK's blunt clash with U. S. Steel's Roger Blough in April 1962.

Sadder And Wiser

There are two reasons for the change between the tough tactics of 1962 and the mild tactics of 1963:

1.—Kennedy is a wiser and chastened man when it comes to tangling with big business.

2.—His Administration has held the line on consumer prices better than any other major industrial country except Canada. Both here and in Canada, consumer prices went up 2.1 per cent last year. In other industrial nations they increased as follows: Belgium, 2.5; Holland 6.6; Sweden 7.1; West Germany 7.2; Britain 7.5; Switzerland 7.5; France 10.1; Italy 10.3; Japan 10.9.

On point No. 1, the President got scared stiff over the aftermath of his clash with U. S. Steel in April 1962. The stock market slump, which saw stocks plummeting down 155 points, sent the cold shivers up his spine. The unannounced sit-down strike in which business leaders started closing down marginal plants and setting up new plants in Western Europe, increased his jitters, plus the drain on the dollar.

At that precise moment there began the big economic retreat. Not in any recent Administration has a retreat been so right-about-face and at times so abject.

Kefauver Gets Boxed

After his 1962 clash with U. S. Steel's Blough, Kennedy had telephone Estes Kefauver, the trust-busting Senator from Tennessee, urging him to investigate steel price collusion. Estes moved ahead. Then suddenly he found the rug pulled out from under him. When he issued subpoenas, the steel executives refused to honor them. When others have disobeyed Senate subpoenas, they have been cited for contempt and jailed.

Sen. John McClelland of Arkansas is one of those who have jailed balking witnesses for contempt. But, in this case, McClelland balked Kefauver. So did other Southern Democrats. They teamed up with the Republicans to protect the steel industry.

McClelland was long the boss of Attorney General Robert Kennedy. They remain good friends. Bobby has sometimes gone to bat with McClelland to help on Administration policies, but on the steel investigation which his brother in the White House had instigated, Bobby gave no help to Kefauver.

Sen. Hugh Scott, (R-Pa.), whose Republican Party in Pennsylvania has profited handsomely from steel company contributions, led the defense of the steel moguls. Armco, which operates in Pennsylvania, had, through its executives, put up a generous total of $96,450 to the GOP in the last campaign, 1956, in which contributions were accurately recorded. National Steel had put up $36,200; Republic Steel $16,300; Bethlehem Steel $8,850—all to the Republicans through executives. So you can see why the Republican Senators teamed up to protect the steel moguls from contempt citations.

But there was no reason for the Democrats to gang up against a steel price investigation. To let the steel moguls get away with contempt of the Senate would put labor leaders in a better position of immunity when they wanted to flout a Senate subpoena.

However, this was how Southern Democrats let the steel industry off the hook.

Today, as President Kennedy needs steel cost figures to see whether the steel price is genuinely justified, he hasn't got them.

Under The Dome

One Congressional committee that can't be tagged with a "do-nothing" label is the House banking and currency group, which reported four major bills—on area redevelopment, silver stockpiling, mass transit, and the export-import bank—before Easter. Hard-working Chairman Wright Patman, (D-Texas), held hearings five days a week, morning and afternoon to get the job done.

President Kennedy will recommend better facilities for handicapped tourists at the White House and other capital show places. A recent study by Rep. Torbert MacDonald, (D-Mass.), revealed a shortage of ramps and wheelchairs at many tourist centers, including the Supreme Court, Lincoln Memorial, and the FBI. Some of the Smithsonian buildings have no elevators, while the White House itself provides only one wheelchair for its many handicapped visitors. The U. S. capitol is better equipped with ramps and wheelchairs, but not enough to meet the demand.

Hilton-Openers

By John Crosby

LONDON

In an orgy of hands-across-the-sea oratory before a glittering throng of non-entities, to a drumfire of British press comment which ranged from coolly contemptuous to surly admiration, Conrad Hilton's newest hostelry, the $22 million London Hilton opened here the other day in the rain.

Almost from the moment it was announced, the London Hilton has been roundly damned by the British press (which, let's face it, roundly damns everything from de Gaulle to Kim Novak to Macmillan with chilly impartiality) because (1) it's 30 stories high, (2) of its architecture, (3) of its "vulgarity," (4) its lack of spatial relationship to its Hyde Park surroundings, (5) because it's American, (6) because it's new, etc.

But mostly because guests from one whole side of the hotel can look into Buckingham Palace and see what the Queen's having for breakfast. Actually you can't, because I tried. But you do get a splendid view of the Queen's backyard, a lovely park with a lake where the Queen liked to stroll unobserved after a hard day of being observed at public functions, but where she won't stroll unobserved ever again. Of course, this is a problem we all have—somebody building across the street, lowering property values and all that, but it had never occurred to anyone that the Conservative government would let this happen to its own Royal Family. But it did.

Conrad Hilton, the 75-year-old head of the hotel empire, strolled about the lobby, superbly unconcerned. "That doesn't bother me," he said when I asked him if the British press ruffled him. "They have done all that before. They'll learn to like us. A lot of it comes from the jealousy of the existing hotels. They think we'll hurt them, but we won't."

Hilton added that building hotels was the thing to do at this juncture of the hotel business. Once, the correct thing to do was to buy hotels and he'd bought a lot of them, including the Waldorf-Astoria ("Great bargain!" but now one only built hotels. He's opening 12 this year, including one at Athens next week.

I took the guided tour behind a lovely dark-haired young girl who said she was a model most of the time and whose lovely undulating hips, I decided, had been especially selected to keep visitor's eyes from looking at the awful carpets in most of the hotel.

"The roof garden bar," she murmured. "Sunken—so you don't have to see too much of the barman's head. The walls are ceramic—Chinese barbecue oven. Oldest method of cooking we know of." Stuffed with knowledge as well as beautiful, this girl was.

The view from the rooftop restaurant, which seems destined to become one of the hot expense account evenings in London, is absolutely breathtaking, affording glimpses not only of Buckingham Palace but Hyde Park, the Serpentine, and roughly 30 miles in any direction of the rest of London. My own feeling about the Hilton's architecture is that it could have been a lot worse, which is faint enough praise. The architect is British Sidney Kaye.

However, its rooms, designed by David T. Williams, are lovely. The really posh upstairs suites on the 26th and 27th floors, done in Japanese hemp wallpaper with soft golden walls and beige marble bathrooms, are as stunning as any hotel rooms you'll find anywhere in the world. They are also as expensive as any in the world. Hilton's own suite is roughly $150 a night, which has everyone gasping a bit. Still, there's no shortage of takers.

Each room has all the wonders of American technology—television, radio, telephones that dial the porter, valet, the outside world, air-conditioning, superb bathrooms—and none of it works. I tried the telephone. Nothing. The telephone isn't hooked up. The shower had hot water but no cold. But then new hotels never, never work. It would be violating all the rules of good hotelkeeping if anything worked on opening day. What would the staff have to strive for?

The opening of Hilton's has its own special in-group of Hilton-openers who climb into Boeings and jet off to Cairo to open another one. I asked Earl Wilson, who has been opening Hiltons, 10 these many years, if he had opened all 50 of them and he said he thought he'd missed one somewhere along the line. "Bob and Millie Considine are here, but Hedde and Lennie, who usually make it, didn't this time," he said.

An English View Of The Population Explosion

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

We may expect to hear more and more about the population explosion as time goes by. Many hold the medical profession responsible for this crowded old world.

In the past, the world population was limited by the food supply, disease, and enemies (famine, pestilence, and war). While the explosion cannot be blamed entirely on physicians, we have been given the go-ahead signal to save and prolong life with little or no regard for the problems created thereby. The large amount of money spent on medical research by government, industry, and fund raising groups supports this contention.

The following quotation from the Lancet shows how some British scientists feel along this line:

"Medical science is largely responsible for creating the problems of overpopulation, old people, and survival of the unfit, and it can be expected reasonably to take a share of the responsibility for solving them. Medical science, after long years of looking askance at contraception, is coming to the view generally that death control must be balanced by birth control. Can medical science now go further and reconcile the interests of demography, of eugenics, and of the individual in other ways also?

"In an overcrowded world, it is hardly logical that time and money should be spent on the treatment of infertility, on facilitating the propagation of defects, or on prolonging life in cases of fatal disease. Further, insofar as medical science cannot attack everything at once, it might logically concentrate research on diseases that disable rather than on those that kill, and on those common in the less crowded parts of the world."

There is not too much humanitarianism in these words but we cannot dismiss the problem easily or pass it along to future generations. There is some merit in concentrating on research devoted to diseases that cause suffering and disability rather than the fatal varieties. After all, we are all going to die some time.

The human race must decide, perhaps in our lifetime, whether overcrowding is pleasant or unpleasant. We have the remedy but is the world ready for it?

ESCAPING GAS

C. J. writes: Is there any simple test for carbon monoxide?

REPLY

Yes. Call your gas company and ask them to test for escaping fumes. They have a simple device for this purpose.

REALING SESSIONS

G. P. writes: A 74-year-old woman reads aloud every day after breakfast for at least 1½ hours. The doctor says her heart is failing and she is collecting water in her tissues. She seems tired after her reading session but insists it is not doing her any harm. What do you think?

REPLY

Let her alone if she enjoys reading aloud.

CHRONIC SINUSITIS

W. V. writes: Is there really a cure for chronic sinus infection?

REPLY

Yes, provided the opening of the sinus is not obstructed by certain tissues in the nose. Such a blockage may require surgery or the correction of allergy. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on sinus disorders.

FEVER BURNS TISSUES

R. C. writes: If fever is nature's way of fighting an infection, why is it desirable to reduce it?

REPLY

Because a high temperature is uncomfortable and leads to dehydration and weakness. Large amounts of fuel are needed to overheat the body, which is another way of saying that valuable tissue is burned up when fever is present. But we are not as concerned with the temperature reading as we were in the past. We realize the cause is more important.

WON'T KILL YOU

J. S. writes: Is a spastic colon ever fatal?

REPLY

No. Abdominal pain is about the worst the victim can expect from this nervous condition.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Corf

The sports editor of a crusading newspaper got a phone call just before the bulldog edition went to press.

"What do you mean, you can't make a buck at the race track any more?" demanded the caller. "I made over ten thousand dollars at Belmont this afternoon." "Who are you?" countered the editor. The caller answered, "I'm a horse!"

A new resident in a New England town was invited to join the volunteer fire brigade. "I'll do it," said the newcomer reluctantly, "but I must warn you that I'm not as young as I used to be, and I don't expect I'll be much good climbing up a ladder."

"Don't let that worry you," the chief assured him. "Nine times out of ten, by the time we get there, there's nothing to lean a ladder against."

tery youth took refuge in his storm cellar to escape being drafted. There he found his 90-year-old uncle hiding, too. "What have you got to worry about?" sneered the nephew. "You're ninety years old." The uncle answered, "So what? They need generals, too, don't they?"

'Forward Look' Is Urged By Governor Barron

SALEM, W. Va. (UPI) — Gov. W. W. Barron says West Virginia's Centennial must have a "forward look" to show more evidence of where the state is headed.

The governor made the observation during the West Virginia Day program at Salem College.

He told students the West Virginia Day was "a proper and fitting time for recognition of the progress we have made during the first 100 years, but it is also a time for setting our sights on outstanding goals for the coming year."

"We should honor and respect the past, but it more important to plan and work to make good history in our own future than to dwell too much on what was or what might have been," he said.

Frostburg Nips Shenandoah, 4-3; New York Team Beats Catamounts

Rockland Tops Potomac State In 1-0 Battle

Bobcats Go Ten Innings To Edge Virginia Tossers

Frostburg State and Potomac State, idle since April 8, returned to the diamond wars yesterday and both were involved in one-run decisions.

The Bobcats of Frostburg nipped Shenandoah College, 4-3, in ten innings, at Moss Cottage Field in Mt. Savage, and Potomac State lost a 1-0 pitching duel to Rockland (N. Y.) College at Stayman Field in Keyser.

Hank Winner's single with the bases loaded in the bottom of the tenth scored the tie-breaking run that gave the Bobcats their third victory against four losses. Play Shepherd Today

Frostburg will attempt to even its record at .500 today at Shepherdstown, W. Va. The Bobcats play the Shepherd Rams at 2 p. m.

Winner and George Lauder drove in two runs apiece for FSTC. Winner had a bases-empty home run in the seventh, in addition to his run-producing safety in the extra inning. Lauder hammered a homer with Clyde Broadwater on base in the fifth.

Shenandoah was threatening to go ahead in the top of the ninth when Bill Carder came in and struck out Richardson to snuff out the rally. The Virginians scored one run in the inning, and had runners on second and third when Carder relieved starter Charlie Grace.

Carder Gets Victory

Carder got the victory, while Reed, who drove in all three of Shenandoah's runs, was charged with the loss in relief.

The Potomac State Catamounts, who battled to a 14-inning, darkness-halted 2-2 tie with Ashland (Ohio) College in their last outing nearly two weeks ago, went through another frustrating afternoon yesterday.

There were only two hits that left the infield among the seven safeties shared by the two clubs. The visiting New Yorkers collected four hits off PSC's Jim Hildreth, and the Catamounts took to Rankin for three.

Rockland scored the game's lone run in the second inning, on three walks and an infield out. Shern coming home on the ground ball.

The Catamounts, whose record now stands at 1-4-1, travel to Hagerstown today for an afternoon game with Hagerstown Junior College.

Karras Given OK To Launch Pro Wrestling Career

MUSKEGON, Mich. (AP)—Alex Karras, suspended Detroit Lions football star, got the go-ahead Friday to launch a full-time wrestling career he thinks will yield nearly twice what the Lions were paying him.

Michigan Athletic Commissioner Dave Gudelsky said, "We'll try to redeem the fellow. He's a great athlete. We're going to continue with him."

"I would be interested in something like that," said the 250-pound Lions lineman who was suspended from the National Football League Wednesday by Commissioner Pete Rozelle.

Gudelsky said Karras has a license as a wrestler in Michigan but has been inactive for a year.

Pan-American Games To Open In Style Today

24 Nations Take Part In Contests

By JERRY LISKA Associated Press Sports Writer

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—The fourth Pan-American Games open Saturday with nearly 2,000 athletes and officials from 24 nations parading in Olympic style before an expected 70,000 persons in Pacaembu Stadium.

The final detachment from the United States, 140 athletes bringing the American total to nearly 500, arrived Friday. This included Lou Montgomery of Cornell, head coach of the powerful American track team, who recovered from a bad reaction after removal of an infected tooth in Miami.

A warm sun brought pleasant temperatures after a three day cold snap.

The United States is expected to walk away with the lion's share of the medals, but public interest was strong in the red-attired Cuban squad which thumped bongo drums and held an impromptu calypso concert in the main yard of the Pan-American Village.

In the only official action, the Pan-American Sports Organization postponed until Monday a decision on where to hold the 1967 games. Winnipeg, Canada; Santiago, Chile; an Caracas, Venezuela are bidders.

All members of the Canadian and Puerto Rican teams who had been under medical care for food poisoning suffered on the flight here were pronounced recovered.

Gov. Adhemar de Barros of Sao Paulo state will officially open the games Saturday at 1:30 p.m. EST, an hour after stunt planes streaming smoke have darted over the stadium, and military bands have played martial tunes.

After the governor arrives comes the parade of athletes and officials, which will require 50 minutes.

Jose Teles da Conceicao, the Brazilian runner, will carry the Olympic torch into the stadium at 3 p.m. EST, and light the Olympic fire that burns until the games end May 5.

Competition starts Saturday night with the United States meeting Cuba in soccer and Brazil facing Peru. First round judo matches also start.

KC Home Runs Beat Angels, 3-2

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI)—Home runs by Norm Siebern and George Alusik gave the Kansas City Athletics a 3-2 victory over the Los Angeles Angels Friday night in the first game of a two-night doubleheader.

Siebern hit his second home run of the season over the right-centerfield fence to tie the score at 1-1 in the fourth inning, and Alusik cracked his first home over the leftfield fence in the seventh inning to give the Athletics the lead.

Haywood Sullivan followed Alusik's homer with a single, went to second on a sacrifice and scored the second run of the inning for the Athletics on Dick Howser's single.

Orlando Pena struck out eight batters in winning his second game of the season, although he needed relief help from John Wyatt in the eighth. Bo Belinsky started and lost his second game of the season.

Beall Batters Southern, 8-1

Donnie Richards Has One-Hitter

Right-hander Donnie Richards allowed only one hit as the Beall High School Mountaineers walloped Southern High of Oakland 8-1 yesterday at Frostburg.

Richards went the distance to give the Mountaineers their third win of the season against one loss.

Perrine got Southern's only hit, a solid pinch-hit single in the fifth inning.

Beall scored its first run in the next frame, scoring two each on a single by Bob Ashby, a triple by Johnny Blank, and on pitcher errors.

Guey crossed the plate for Southern's only run in the top of the ninth with a combination of a hit batsman, a stolen base, a passed ball and a wild pitch.

Charles Leads Nicklaus, Zarley In Houston Classic

New Zealander Has One-Stroke Edge In Second Round

HOUSTON (UPI) — Left-hander Bob Charles of Christchurch, New Zealand, started fast and finished strong Friday to take a one-stroke lead over Jack Nicklaus and amateur Kermit Zarley in the second round of the $50,000 Houston golf classic.

Charles, 27, who was followed by a gallery of lefties, birdied four of his first six holes, bogeyed seven, then played par golf until the 18th, when he sank a 12-foot putt for a 66 and a two-day score of 133.

Tommy Aaron, who led the field with a 64 Thursday, soared to 73 with four bogeys and a double bogey Friday for a 137 total.

Nicklaus also had bogey trouble four for the day, including three in a row on the back nine, while posting a 69.

Zarley, the national collegiate champion from the University of Houston, was making the best showing of any amateur in the tournament this year. He had four birdies and two bogeys for Friday's 68.

Oddly enough, Zarley took the collegiate crown in 1962, a year after Nicklaus won it while playing for Ohio State.

Fred Hawkins, of El Paso, Tex., shot Friday's best round, 65—to give him a 136, a tie for third place with Charles Sifford, of Los Angeles, and amateur Homero Blancas, a Houston teammate of Zarley's.

A slight drizzle during the early afternoon did not appear to hamper the golfers. The scores were generally lower Friday than Thursday when 20-mile-per-hour winds raked the fairways.

Cokes Favored To Beat Stable

Welters Fight On TV Tonight

NEW YORK (UPI) — Curtis Cokes of Dallas, Tex., is a slight favorite at 6-5 to beat Cuban Jose Stable of New York Saturday night in their nationally televised welterweight contenders' fight at Sunnyside Garden.

Slender Cokes, the World Boxing Association's top contender, is making his New York debut.

Their 10-rounder, televised by ABC at 10 p. m. (est), originates at Sunnyside in New York's borough of Queens, because a circus occupies Madison Square Garden.

Cokes is gunning for a title shot. His 38 bouts include a win and loss against Cuban Luis Rodriguez in 1961. Rodriguez is now world champion.

Stable, three years younger than Cokes, is a former world champion.

Altman's Triple Scores 3 Runs Eagles Hold PVC Lead At 4 And 0

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Curt Simmons, with a lift from George Altman's three-run triple in the first, beat Philadelphia for the second time this season when he pitched the St. Louis Cardinals to a 5-1 victory over the Phillies Friday night.

The Phillies, who had committed nine errors in their past three games, came up with two more in the first inning to help the Cardinals to four unearned runs off loser Chris Short and thus dropped their fourth game in a row.

Curt Flood opened the game with a double and Dick Groat walked. Bill White bunted in front of the plate and, when Clay Dalrymple fumbled it, the bases were loaded.

Ken Boyer struck out and Charley James flied out to short left, but then Altman rifled a shot past first base which went into the bullpen for three runs and scored himself when Tony Taylor's wild relay went into the Phils' dugout. The Cardinals added their fifth run without a hit off Jack Hamilton in the ninth.

Simmons, who has beaten the Phils 11 times in 12 starts since they released him in May, 1960, worked himself out of a dozen difficulties in a labored performance. He gave up nine hits, walked five and hit one batter but sandwiched seven strikeouts in between.

Civil Service Unit To Meet Tuesday

The Cumberland Civil Service Commission will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall.

One matter to be considered is a revision in the Water Department office which places clerks under supervision of the comptroller. Also to be studied is a request from Water Commissioner G. Ray Light that the position of chief clerk in the department be reclassified.

The commission is expected to consider an examination for the position of building inspector, incorporating certain duties requested by the Mayor and Council.

Registrars Given Wage Classification

A salary classification for the two registrars for the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors was authorized yesterday by the county commissioners by a resolution adopted.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, said the two registrars, John R. Kelly and Irvin Neat, have been paid $4,825 annually with no provision for an increment year by year.

Both men are under Civil Service and Getty said the salary schedule should be established. The commissioners ordered the starting salary to be $4,500 with a minimum of $5,500 at the end of five years.

Since the men have been under Civil Service for some years their current salary until June 30 will be $4,900 and go to $5,100 as of July 1, the start of the new fiscal year.

The increments are $200 annually.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our relatives, friends and neighbors who were so kind to us during our bereavement, the death of our beloved husband and father, Ted Humphrey. We especially thank Rev. Robert F. Thompson, the pallbearer, those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their cars and all others who rendered assistance in any way.
Mrs. Elizabeth Humphrey and daughter, Nancy.

Resurfacing Of 10 Streets Set This Spring

Preliminary Work Will Be Pushed

The Department of Streets and Public Property is taking steps to insure that all preparatory work is completed on 10 city streets which are being improved this spring under the 1963 Special Projects program.

The contract is being advertised and bids will be opened by the Mayor and Council on April 29 at 10 a. m.

To be improved are Wills Creek Avenue, from Fayette Street 450 feet northward; Kiefer Avenue, from Washington to Fayette Street; Linden Street, from Frederick to Bedford Street; Fourth Street, from Grand to Pennsylvania Avenue; West First Street, from Springdale to Oak Street.

East Street, from Reynolds to end of the street; Rose Hill Avenue, from Allegheny Street to Thompson Avenue; Wempe Drive, from Oldtown Road 600 feet southward; Windsor Road, from Buckingham Road to Sandringham Circus, and Reynolds Street, from Marion Street to the Cumberland Thruway.

Repairs Urged

The work will include furnishing all labor, equipment and materials to apply a tack coat and to resurface the areas with a two-inch layer of bituminous concrete (blacktop).

Plans are being made by Commissioner Lucile Roeder to see that all preliminary work required by the city, utilities and property owners is completed before the street improvement work begins.

The Sewer department has been asked to make a survey of the streets to determine how many manholes have to be raised during the blacktopping.

Mrs. Roeder has asked the sewer foreman to have on hand enough two-inch risers to keep the manholes level with the new surface.

She also has asked the crew to have available a few one-inch risers for places where, due to the crown of the road, it is not practical to lay a full two-inch layer of blacktop.

Street Department staffers have been asked to have crews go over the streets to repair potholes and weak places in the pavement which could cause trouble after the new surface is applied.

Will Inspect

The City Engineering Department will assist foremen in making inspections to determine just what repairs will be needed.

C. R. Nuzum, city engineer, and George Scarlett, acting inspector, will tour the streets early next week.

They have been requested to inspect curbs on the streets, and to note those which should be repaired or replaced.

Property owners will be advised of the need for curb repairs and asked to have the work done before blacktopping crews move in.

The Street Department will repair curbs at intersections — a city responsibility — and Mr. S. Roeder has asked that the radius be eased when a curb has to be replaced, to widen the intersection.

Notification to utilities to replace lines which are slated for renewal is standard procedure.

Rev. Jim Reed To Address Rally

Rev. Jim Reed, Harrison City, Pa., will be the speaker at Tri-State Youth for Christ today at 7:45 p. m. at First Methodist Church, 1707 Frederick Street.

Rev. Mr. Reed is active in Youth for Christ work in Pennsylvania.

A series of two-week playoffs to determine the top man in Bible quizzing will begin tonight. A pre-rally quiz between Allegheny, Fort Hill and Fort Ashby teams will begin at 7:10 p. m. During the meeting, teams of Valley, Fort Ashby and Allegheny high schools will compete.

79 Students To Play In All-County Orchestra

Discuss Elementary School Reading

Dr. Harry Sartain, director of Falk School, University of Pittsburgh, (second from left) discusses his ideas of an effective school reading program with Miss Alma Logsdon, principal of LaVale School, left, Mrs. Mildred Sowers, state supervisor of elementary education, and J. Paul Andrick, principal of Piney Plains School, at yesterday afternoon's meeting of Elementary School principals at Allegheny High School. Dr. Sartain also addressed elementary teachers yesterday morning and served with Mrs. Sowers in a series of sectional meetings with teachers of the six grades.

Speaker Urges Variety In School Reading Programs

By ALBERT D. DARBY News Staff Writer

An effective reading program in elementary schools must combine the best features of the basic reading program and self-selective reading.

That was the essential element in an address to the elementary teachers of Allegheny County delivered yesterday morning in the Allegheny High School auditorium by Dr. Harry Sartain, director of the Falk School of the University of Pittsburgh.

Used Car Lot Opposed Here

The Allegheny County Board of Commissioners yesterday morning heard a complaint concerning the possible use of a lot at Bedford and Frederick streets as a used car site.

Donald W. Mason, local attorney, represented Dr. Richard J. Williams and his wife who are opposed to a used car lot being placed at the location.

A delegation of residents of that area met with C. Lee Renaud, county planner, voicing their opposition to the used car lot.

Mr. Renaud explained that an application has not been filed in the office of the County Planning and Zoning Commission.

He remarked that in the latter part of 1961 in answer to a query by the commission, the owner of the land indicated that the intended use of the land was for a business purpose.

Teachers Urged To Be Receptive To Changes

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools, outlined "Pressures Causing Imbalance In Our School Program" yesterday morning at a meeting of teachers, principals and supervisors at Allegheny High School.

Dr. Pullen said school people must keep their sense of balance in knowing factors which play upon the selection of a curriculum.

He urged teachers to "keep current" and be receptive to new ideas but at the same time to be prepared for pressures.

He said schools, as in all public functions, must serve all and not just a few.

Life changes, he said, and these changes demand a continued study of the curriculum. He cited as examples scientific, technical and economic development, urbanization, occupational and social mobility and development of mass media under which he noted the advancement of television and the fact more people are reading newspapers.

Dr. Pullen appeared at the Professional Day for educators in a dual role, as state superintendent and as vice chairman of the "Project on Instruction" sponsored by the National Education Association which is looking into what should be taught in schools and how.

He posed two questions. One concerned how a program can be designed to develop all potentials of youth and how education can be kept in balance under the demand for specialization.

First, he said, the teacher must know what throws education out of balance. Factors entering into this include tradition, national community changes, regional and local differences, public opinion and politics.

Also cited were commercially produced teaching products, and the fact that colleges and universities are recruiting students the same way they recruit football players.

Dr. Pullen questioned whether this might not be a weak spot in the system and whether it is proper or a sound measure.

Certain pressures are also brought to bear in determining a school curriculum, the speaker pointed out. These might be brought by professional education organizations which play a part in school policies; regular accrediting agencies, grants from foundations; testing programs which can be dangerous and detrimental, special interest groups and federal government agencies which instead of giving direct aid to states spell out a school program with the result that it is not settled professionally.

Dr. Pullen urged teachers to stand fast for professional standards and to oppose legislation spelling out education programs.

Smoker Ticket Deadline Today

Today is the deadline for getting tickets to the annual smoker of the Allegheny-Garrett Counties Volunteer Firemen's Association smoker which will be held Saturday, April 27 at Lonaconing. Dinner will be served at 5 p. m. followed by entertainment and refreshments at 8 p. m.

Home Planned Here

Walter L. Davis, 519 City View Terrace, secured a permit from the City of Cumberland yesterday to build a one-story home at 210 Maple Street. It will be about 24 by 53 feet and of frame construction.

New Exam For Peace Corps Set April 27

Test Simplified And Shortened

A new, and much shorter, Peace Corps placement test will be given for the first time next Saturday in Room 331 at the Cumberland Post Office.

The basic new test will be only one hour in length. By contrast, the old exam used by the Peace Corps lasted a minimum of four hours and, in specialized instances, could last up to eight hours.

The new, short test, like the old one, is non-competitive. It is used as a device by the Peace Corps officials to determine if an applicant is basically qualified for Peace Corps service and at what level.

In addition to the one-hour test, applicants who have a knowledge of French or Spanish must take an additional one-hour language achievement test.

Applicants who have already taken the old test do not need to take the new one.

To be eligible to take the exam, applicants must either have submitted a questionnaire to the Peace Corps or must bring a completed questionnaire to the test site with them. All applicants must be U. S. citizens who are at least 18 years old. There is no upper age limit. Married couples without dependent children may qualify for the same program.

Although many Peace Corps jobs require technical skills, some do not. Liberal arts graduates are often assigned to community development after receiving special training and those with general farm backgrounds might be assigned to agricultural projects without being highly skilled in any specialties. A college degree is not needed for many Peace Corps assignments.

GETS NEW POSITION—William A. Withrow, district office manager for Columbia Gas of Maryland, has been transferred to a similar position at Uniontown, Pa. He began his gas company career in Wheeling in 1938 and has been manager here since January. He will work for Columbia Gas of Pennsylvania, a sister company of the local firm.

New Company Is Welcomed To Maryland

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Gov. Tawes welcomed a new corporation to Maryland Friday night and told its officers they will find "a most favorable business climate, as well as a healthy business-government relationship."

Tawes attended a reception and dinner given by the Pangborn Corporation of Hagerstown for its new owner, the Carborundum Company, which has international interests.

Pangborn manufactures blast cleaning and dust control instruments for industrial use, and is one of the largest firms in the world of this type.

It employs 1,000. Thomas W. Pangborn, the president, will remain honorary chairman of the board under the new management.

"The introduction of the famous name of the Carborundum company into the blue book of Maryland industrial society enhances the prestige of Maryland as a vital industrial center," Tawes said.

He said that of 500 "blue chip" corporations in the United States, the state can now boast that 104 of them have headquarters or branch plants in Maryland.

During 1962 alone, the governor said, Maryland's economic growth counted 200 new and expanded manufacturing plants, representing nearly $200 million in new capital investment and nearly 10,000 new job opportunities.

Tawes praised Thomas W. Pangborn "for having added another trophy to the array of prizes which have been won by Maryland in our mutual effort to expand and strengthen our state's economy."

Guests at the dinner included Frances Cardinal Spellman of New York, Archbishop Lawrence J. Sheehan of Baltimore, Archbishop Patrick O'Boyle of Washington and the Rt. Rev. Msgr. William J. McDonald, director of Catholic University in Washington.

Third Order Plans Meeting Tomorrow

The local fraternity of the Third Order of St. Francis will meet on Sunday afternoon at SS. Peter and Paul Church.

Instructions for novices and candidates will be held in the school at 3 p. m. This will be followed by services in the church at 3:30 p. m. during which there will be profession ceremony for novices.

Fr. Sylvan Fondriest, O.F.M. Cap., director of the fraternity, will conduct the services.

Federal Aid Project Will Be Advertised

Ridge Terrace Job Gets Green Light

Mayor Earl D. Chaney was notified yesterday that the Housing and Home Finance Agency has approved plans and specifications for the Ridge Terrace water and sewer construction project here.

The work is to be done under the Accelerated Public Works program and construction is scheduled to begin by July 25, the Mayor was advised.

The Ridge Terrace project is one of a number of projects for which the City of Cumberland is seeking matching federal funds under the pump priming program.

Notification that the project has the green light was sent by Cornelius J. Daly, regional director of the Community Facilities unit of the HHFA.

The agency notified the city some time ago that it was setting aside $6,500 for the federal share of the project which is estimated to cost $13,000.

The contract will include the extension of existing sewer and water lines to serve portions of Thompson Avenue, McKinley Avenue, Ridge Terrace and Ritchie Street.

It will make water and sewerage facilities available to a number of people who plan to build in the area. Several residents, officials said, will begin construction as soon as the services are assured.

Mayor Chaney said plans call for advertising the project for bids next week so work can be started on schedule.

Gunshot Wound Fatal To Man

Harry Stewart, about 66, was found dead last night at the home of Sarah Twigg on Town Creek Road near the old Williams Road.

State Police said he died of a self-inflicted gunshot wound. He was found lying on the kitchen floor of the house.

Police said he used a 12-gauge shotgun. He was alone at the home at the time of the shooting.

Tfc. Richard Graham and Trooper Philip Reynolds had gone to the Twigg home about 7 p. m. to serve a simple assault warrant on Stewart.

They saw the lights on but did not see anyone in the house. They kicked the door in and found Mr. Stewart lying on the floor. He had been shot in the head.

The body was taken to the Scarpelli Funeral Home.
